

A law named 'Distansköplagen' is the Act on Distance Contracts law.

This law requires companies to provide the consumer with certain information before selling anything online. It also gives the consumer the right to withdraw his/her purchase for no particular reason.

In the event, a customer refers to the above law when making a cancellation request, we need to inform them that it is not applicable for the Travel industry and provide information regarding cancellation by fare rules.